1. The leadership of KKE is trying to safeguard the Paralegal Mechanism from the activities of the Greek police and has ordered rigorous decentralization of the Mechanism.
2. This will give the secretaries of the Divisions (Diamerismata) the right to make certain decisions on their own initiative, whereas previously the same problems ordinarily required a decision by the entire bureau of the Division. The bureaus of the Divisions are not to act as agencies of instruction, but the secretaries will supervise the individual members of the bureaus.
3. The Sections (Timmata) of the Paralegal Mechanism are to be divided into groups (omades), which will consist of the KKE members living in a certain part of a neighborhood. Each member of the bureau of the Section will instruct and control one group.
4. The chief of a Division of the Paralegal Mechanism will supervise the individual secretaries of the Sections under his jurisdiction.
